CHOIR PICNIC

Sixty of Our People Have Whale of a Time on Little Bow

Members of the two choirs—adult and junior—of the Union Church, together with friends, held a picnic on Wednesday near Carlsbad bridge on the Little Bow. The Wednesday half-holiday is the making of a picnic, and it was a large and jolly bunch that made the trip to the river on this occasion. Transportation was made by autos furnished by friends in town and country, and the journey over and back, on splendid roads, was an enjoyable feature of a very pleasant event. It was a real care-free picnic and there was bushels of fun. They had races and contests and everything, and the pranks invented and performed, furnished amusement that was entirely satisfying and made this putting one of the best. Swimming was a favorite of the pleasures, and the splashing and antics in the river on this day was just as good fun as we read about in the stories of the old swimmin' hole in the days of real sport. Then there were the eats, unsurpassed in quality, and in abundance beyond the capacity of the bunch of great appetites. The chuck wagon was in charge of Messrs. Wilson and Allen, and though they had trouble on the road with their heavy load, they delivered the goods in splendid time and shape, and after all had eaten and were full, there were taken up twelve baskets—more or less—and this provided refreshments for the party which made an early return to town and spent the end of a perfect day at the home of Mr. McQueen.

BROKEN BLOSSOMS

Coming of the Great Griffith Picture to Vulcan, August 29.

Of extraordinary interest, not only to lovers of the motion picture, but likewise to all who appreciate the highest in art in its various manifestations, is the announcement of the management of the Opera House that David Wark Griffith superb screen creation, "Broken Blossoms," has been secured for showing at Vulcan, one night only, on August 29.

Never has a motion picture been the triumph that has followed every showing of this production. Newspapers have devoted column after column to its beauties and wonders. Everywhere its success has been instantaneous and it is safe to say that in bringing "Broken Blossoms" to our town, the management of the Opera House has to its credit the biggest accomplishment in artistic entertainment that we have yet enjoyed.

BAND AT FAIR

Vulcan Band Plays Engagement at High River.

Bandmaster Ober and his band was the musical feature at the High River Exhibition on Friday last. The exhibition was an all-round great success, and the boys came home pleased with the satisfaction of knowing that they had contributed to this success, the fair management voluntary and freely attesting to this fact. Besides having this pleasure, the boys thoroughly enjoyed the trip, the fair, and the treatment accorded them by the fair officials and the citizens. A visit to High River is always a pleasure and the next is keenly anticipated.

Old Newspapers

Old newspapers, excellent for wrapping, and fine for lighting the fire and other uses. A big bundle for two bits.—Advocate Office, Vulcan.

ONLY A YARN

Two men were waiting for a train and one said: "I will ask you a question, and if I cannot answer my own question I will buy the tickets. Then you ask a question, and if you cannot answer your own you buy the tickets." The other agreed to this. "Well," the first man said, "you see those rabbit holes? How do they dig those holes without leaving any dirt around them?" The other confessed: "I don't know." That's your question, so answer it yourself." The first man winked and replied: "They begin at the bottom and dig up." "But," said the second man, "how do they get at the bottom to begin?" "That's your question," was the first man's rejoinder. "Answer it yourself." The other man bought the tickets.

DEPARTMENTAL EXAMINATIONS

Results Are Very Gratifying. Reflects Great Credit Upon Teachers.

The remarkable results of the departmental examinations in the Vulcan school is a glowing tribute to the very excellent work performed by Miss Wylie, principal of the school, and her assistant, Miss Cassie. In Grade VIII, twelve pupils wrote and all of them passed, which not only signifies painstaking work on the part of teachers, but also close application on the part of the pupils.

Miss Wylie has been principal of the school for two years and Miss Cassie for a year and a half and during that time they have done a great deal to establish the Vulcan schools on a thoroughly sound basis and bring to the institution a reputation that is indeed invaluable to the community. Following are the names of the candidates:

Dorothy Altizer, Queenie Daines, Elizabeth Dixon, Addy Flood, Cora Gardner, Elsie Kehr, Joe Korczynski, Ruth MacArthur, Grace McDonald, Merle McKay, Ruth Rolston, Rilla Watt.

In Grade IX the entire class was successful. Following are the names:

Harold Buck, Mae Davis, Evelyn Larson, Nellie Middleton, John Miller, Joe Rushfeldt.

In Grade XI three of the four candidates were successful:

Roy Davis, Thelma Ferngren, Dorothy McQueen.

In Grade IX the results have not been announced by the department as yet.

LOOKS GOOD TO HIM

The Hon. Archie McLean, former minister of public works in the Stewart government, upon retiring from his post had the following to say of his successors:

"It looks to me as if Premier Greenfield has got around him some of the very strongest men in this province," said Mr. McLean. "He is a strong and able man himself. I know Perrin Baker, new minister of education, and have known him since he first came to the country. He is a very superior man, one of the very best in Alberta. The other members of the cabinet seem to be high class men."

GOLDEN WEDDING

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Loisele was celebrated on Sunday, August 14, at their home at Sylvan Lake. Three sons, Louis of Sylvan Lake, Arthur and Albert of Edmonton; two daughters, Mrs. R. J. Wells of Vulcan, and Mrs. Winkinson of Sylvan Lake were present and the day was spent in a happy manner and many recollections of the past were recalled. Both Mr. and Mrs. Loisele are enjoying the very best of good health and the Advocate has pleasure in tendering them hearty felicitations on the occasion of their golden wedding.

UP IN THE AIR

Aeroplane Visit Vulcan and Citizens Take to Flying

Vulcan and its people had an unexpected visit and experience on Saturday. The visit was that of two aeroplanes and the experience was that of making a flight. The visit of the aircraft is remarkable by the fact that one of the planes is the first American machine ever landed here or in this part of the country.

This American machine is in charge of Messrs. C. O. Prest and L. M. Bach, of Nevada, two young men full of the spirit of adventure, who are making an air trip from Mexico to Siberia. The plane is specially designed by one of them for the express purpose of making this trip, and is of the type known as a biplane, equipped with a Curtiss engine of 92 horse-power, and made to carry sufficient gasoline for a non-stop flight of 450 miles.

The machine and aviators came to Vulcan from Lethbridge, where they overhauled their machine before leaving for other points on their journey to Nome, in Alaska, from which place they will make the jump of 300 miles across the Behring Strait to the coast of Siberia.

The trip is on the initiative of Messrs. Prest and Bach, and is financed by themselves. They are acting as pathfinders in the interest of commercial aviators. In this particular the trip they are making is unlike that made by the last fliers to Nome, who were financed by the U.S. government, and that of the Trans-Canada flight financed by the Dominion government. The fliers are taking photos as they fly and these will be used in a magazine article of their aerial voyage which they intend writing.

Messrs. Prest and Bach started from Los Angeles three weeks ago, making their way to Tia Juana, in Mexico. From there they flew to Los Vegas, Nevada, and then on to Salt Lake City, Dillon, Anaconda, Butte, Helena, Great Falls, Shelby, Coulters, and then to Lethbridge, and from Lethbridge to Vulcan, where their stay was made the occasion of thrilling sights and experiences for the citizens, and in furnishing these they were assisted by Messrs. Palmer and Fitzsimmons, the Lethbridge aviators, who came over in their own machine and shared in the business of taking our people for a ride high up in the air, and there were many who took the journey above.

Mr. Prest has an ascension record of 18,000 feet, made in California, and one of his feats here was to go so high that he was out of sight, and his stunts included looping-the-loop and almost all the tricks known to flyers. Mr. Fitzsimmons, in his performance, specialized in the daring and difficult feat of wing-walking. It was a great demonstration of aerial antics and Vulcan people enjoyed the exceptional opportunity to the limit.

LOCALS

Mr. Ernie Russel, of the Club billiard hall, was up north in the vicinity of Edmonton on a business trip last week. It might be that he will return with some other kind of a pet to add to his collection of pets.

The report of a recent court case in our last issue contained an error or two. By a mistake in a word the sentence was extended from two months to two years. We had no intention whatever to out-do Magistrate Lindsay, neither do we desire the undue punishment of anyone, and like the magistrate and everyone, regret the unfortunate circumstances which made occasion for our mistake.

Miss Vera Vanakiver entertained a number of local young people at a party at her home on Thursday night. Dancing and music were features of this most enjoyable event.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Anderson, of Calgary, were last week the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Shimp.

Mr. J. H. Ruby, and his niece, Mrs. James Hampton, returned on Thursday from Deer Park, Wash., where they went to attend the burial of the late Mrs. Ruby. The remains were interred in the family plot at Milan, and the funeral ceremonies were conducted by the Royal Neighbors, of which society the deceased was a member. Two little girls, members of the bereaved family, remained in Washington.

The installation of a new desk is an addition made this week to the splendid equipment of the Bank of Commerce.

"The Toll Gate," which Wm. S. Hart says "is the best picture I ever made," was the attraction at the Opera House last week, and the many who witnessed it will agree with Bill. We wonder sometimes if the excellence of the pictures presented by Mr. Brewerton are really appreciated.

There is no limit to the kindness of a young man with a big heart. We have in Vulcan just such a fellow. On Monday night, voluntarily and without charge, he made a trip by auto into the country about fifteen miles, burning up gas and oil, to deliver a message. Though gas and oil may be available to him at wholesale, we do not mention this to discount his kindness. The good Samaritan of old has nothing on this modern benefactor.

Herbert Greenfield, who was the unanimous choice of the U.F.A. members of the Legislature as Premier, has announced the personnel of his cabinet, and his selection has received the approval of the members. There could be no better method for the forming of the government than has been followed, and the choice made, which is entirely to the satisfaction of the party which is charged with the responsibilities of government, can not but be accepted by the people. The members of the government have subscribed to the oath of office and are now in control of the business of the province, and if the success which has attended the formation of the government follows them in the administration of affairs, their election will be a satisfaction. The disposition of people of all parties seems to be to give the new party in power all the chance possible to make good, and generally the selection made by the U.F.A. members and the Premier has increased the confidence that it will.

KEEP FORESTS GREEN

If Canada's forests are kept green the result will benefit our lumbermen, farmers, manufacturers, merchants, railways, ship owners, and, above all, our workingmen. If the forests are destroyed this destruction will leave much of the land a barren desert. It will dry up our streams and injure every person in Canada, no matter what his business.

If this paper were a dollar bill no one would burn it. Our Canadian forests are full of trees each worth many dollar bills, and yet some people let their campfires run, throw away burning matches, and by their carelessness burn down miles of forest. This is the camping season, and we would urge the utmost caution on the part of all campers, to be careful of fires.

SUPPOSE

Suppose, an editor should, just for once, when in thought, relieve his mind by printing all the news he happened to know at that minute? Options would be thrown up, citizens arrested, families disrupted, fights fought in every street corner, candidates resigning, ministers leaving for distant parts, lawyers taking long vacations, business men turning things over to their clerks for a season, hired girls hunting new jobs, and so on down a long list of casualties—and the editor would be so mused up that his corpse couldn't be identified by his own family. A newspaper man doesn't know everything, but his work is such that he hears a lot that common sense, common decency, and common prudence keep out of the paper.

Vigilance in guarding the frontier is praiseworthy, but it may be unfortunate in its result. Last June the new railway station on the Italian side of the line at the Brenner Pass caught fire. The Austrian fire brigade from Gries hurried to help extinguish the flames, but an Italian official prevented the firemen from crossing the boundary because their passports had no visa. The station was burned to the ground.

A co-operative marketing scheme for the disposal of potatoes similar to that already in force in Michigan and Minnesota will be tried out this year by Alberta farmers, according to J. H. Hare, commissioner of marketing for the Provincial Department of Agriculture. The scheme will involve the establishment of a grading station at which all potatoes will be graded for shipment. Inspection will be given at the other end, potatoes going through in such cases subject to rejection.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT

Oshawa Reformer: The craze which suddenly developed for dancing and singing to the noise of cow bells, sandpaper, police whistles, automobile horns and other instruments which played so prominent a part in the jazz orchestra is one of those mysteries of modern civilization which must ever remain inexplicable to the music lover, although psychologists may be able to offer an explanation.

Carp Review: Many merchants and business men pursue a "penny wise and pound foolish" course in failing to advertise in their home paper which is read in practically every home in the territory from which their trade is drawn. A modest space in every issue, with crisp wording, and prices of articles advertised quoted whenever desirable, will pay every merchant or business man tenfold and proof can be had in a brief trial.

Carmanagay Sun: It has been observed that many business houses hold the bulk of their mail for posting until the close of the day. This results in serious congestion with consequent delay in handling mails. In their own interests, business houses should post mail at frequent intervals during the day. The following advantages are to be gained by early and frequent posting: Early posting results in early dispatch. Mail posted at the close of the day is sometimes delayed nearly twenty four hours. Late mailing results in less efficient handling, with possibility of error or delay.

Western Catholic: Last Saturday all eyes turned towards Jersey City, the newest Mecca of the Western world. Thither assembled 96,000 of the world's well-educated, well-dressed, wealthy people, who paid $1,750,000 to watch a spectacle of about fifteen minutes' duration. Are we going to hear again the cry of decadent Rome, whose only demand was for leashed sports carried out by professional players? For weeks and weeks the coming fight was our great topic of conversation; chances were estimated, wagers offered and accepted as if the world's salvation depended on the bout. No national event, no religious ceremony, no educational or scientific gathering could make such a claim on our time and money and have that claim allowed. Let us ask ourselves one question: What would we spend on religion, on education, on scientific enquiry and social amelioration the time, the energy, the wealth now spent on sports at which we are mere idle spectators.

Collingwood Bulletin: That old acquaintance John Barleycorn passed out of Ontario on Monday night. Upon his going the door was slammed shut and bolted, the intention being that not again shall he have a place in the community. Tears may have been shed quietly, but there was no public demonstration to mark his departure. In April last he was passed his hat and gloves and these not being recalled he has since been preparing for his departure. Before leaving Barleycorn crawled hither and thither for protection. In the early days he enjoyed then he was shoved to the wayside inn, where he so abused the privileges granted that as time rolled on these were curbed again and again. The gilded palaces of the city corners were his for a period, but in these, as in the lowest dens he went on with his iniquitous work. From there he was driven to the "blind pigs" thence to the cellars. Now he takes refuge for the time at least in the attics with the household discards. There behind broken brick-a-brac, the old family trunks, the torn and worn carpets, he lies hidden, ashamed of himself, and his friends, half ashamed of him. Truly, the order changes.

The Guardian: The Eastern and Western Canada Livestock unions have appealed to the Board of Railway Commissioners for a decrease of 50 per cent. in the rates on livestock. It is asserted that the present rates are practically prohibitive and are very seriously hampering the livestock industry. In some cases carrying charges on livestock are 180 per cent. higher now than in 1916, and whereas the carrying charges in 1916 were 1.3 per cent. of the price of butcher cattle they are now 3.14 per cent. Just what can be done in the matter we do not know. It is certain that the present rates are hampering not only the livestock trade but many others, and incidentally are helping to produce the very deficits they were intended to avoid. This is one of the problems to which Mr. Flavel's attention as Chairman of the National Railways will immediately be turned and his own business experience will no doubt help him to suggest some feasible solution. These post-war days must necessarily be days of readjustment, and while these readjustments will be unavoidable they should be wise and they should not be dictated solely by popular clamor. Our people are willing to put up with inconvenience, and even to be at considerable loss without undue grumbling if only they are convinced that these things are unavoidable or are in the public interest, but they are not willing to be burdened merely that another may escape his burden.

HARNESSING THE AIR

Limpid Liquid May Become a Substitute for Oil or Coal.

In scientific circles two things are absorbing unusual interest just now. One is oil, the other is liquid air.

The Aquitania's record in the recent "Atlantic Derby" proves the superiority of oil over coal. The adoption of liquid air to work the Zurich tramways, indicates that the limpid liquid may yet become a satisfactory substitute for either oil or coal.

Air turned to a liquid has many curious properties. It is a clear, sparkling fluid, closely resembling water, but so cold that it boils on ice and freezes alcohol and mercury.

Although not wet to the touch, a drop on the hand produces all the sensations of burning with molten metal. It does not really burn, but the process of cold, which corresponds to the burning of heat, leaves a little red scar on the flesh.

The uses to which liquid air may be applied are legion.

It proves a very potent germ exterminator. In American surgery use has also been made of it in cauterizing cancer and in treating various other maladies.

In the home it likewise possesses a value. A teapot full of liquid air boils vigorously on a block of ice. Food may be "chilled" instantly and so kept fresh. All the degrees of temperature may be produced in any room—from intense heat to interstellar cold.

The busy man who finds it difficult to leave town in the summer for a holiday may also benefit. All the ozone of a particular seaside resort can be gathered and let loose in one's own room at home, without cost of travel or loss of time.

Liquid air plants have already been installed in several mine rescue stations in the Midlands. The demand for it has necessitated perfecting an apparatus for its production on a commercial scale. Generally speaking, it requires about as much air as would fill a small bedroom to make a pair of liquid air, a feat occupying some fifteen minutes.

Even in warfare the "bugbear" of munition making is greatly simplified. Instead of ships weighing themselves down with frightfully dangerous explosives, the introduction of a liquid air plant aboard each vessel will, it is calculated, enable explosives to be made as needed, just as a P. and O. liner makes her own ice as required.—Irish Independent.

The Lieut. Governor's Banner, the distinction given to Alberta schools which gain the 100 per cent. mark in membership in the Junior Red Cross, has been won by 92 schools up to date. New schools are being added to the roll of honor every day and the results are a surprise to the organizers at the Provincial Red Cross headquarters at Calgary. There are also a number of schools down on the list for certificates, which are issued for gaining 75 per cent. enrolment in the Junior Red Cross.

The Junior organization is active this summer. Four children are under treatment at the expenses of the Juniors at present and six are coming in soon, both at Calgary and Edmonton. These sick kiddies are visited by members of the Junior Red Cross who also supply them with toys and write to them during their illness.

The provincial headquarters has encouraging news from Athabasca, where the new hospital is being operated. The matron in charge writes that recently the mother of a child born in the institution insisted that it be christened there and asked the doctor and the matron to stand as godfather and godmother. After the ceremony the matron drove the mother sixteen miles into the country where they were met by her husband, who had himself driven sixteen miles. They went on their way back to their lonely homestead, grateful to the service rendered by this Red Cross hospital.

ABE LINCOLN HAD THE RIGHT IDEA

The Camrose Canadian Published the Following Interesting Article Which Will Interest our Readers.

Some time in the dim long ago, when Camrose was not even thought of as a thriving railroad center, before telephones or telegraphs were invented, President "Abe" Lincoln said: "You can't fool all the people all the time." And today in Camrose, years after Honest Abe had thought of it, Hubert D. Strong, night operator at the C.P.R. depot, is ruefully admitting that "Abe" said a mouthful that time and is handing out the Flor de Cabbagerinos and a smile to anybody that cares to go round and collect both.

And the reason is that he has been caught with the goods. On his calendar at the C.P.R. office you will find July 18th marked with a big red mark. But it isn't marked that way for the same reason that President Wood of the U.F.A. has July 18 marked as a red letter day, although Mr. Strong claims that his reason for getting out the big red pencil was just as important as that of any farmer, for on that day, like the province of Alberta, Mr. Strong also went "under new management." All of which brings us to our story, which is, that taking advantage of the election excitement on Monday, July 18, the same night operator slipped away from Camrose after sending a mysterious message to Miss Grace McDonald at High River, and long before the election returns were in Mr. Strong and Miss McDonald had decided to form a coalition party of two on their own, and having obtained the necessary documents they appeared before a minister at High River, made the necessary answers to his questions, and in the Strong home a new leader of the government has been appointed.

Even yet the excitement of the elections might have kept the wedding a secret, but when the telegraph tolls on the C.P.R. between Camrose and High River began to creep up, and the long distance tolls in both the above telephone offices commenced to assume enormous proportions, investigations were carried out that led to the denouement. For although Mr. Strong has returned to Camrose, the future leader of the Strong government, like Mr. Greenfield, has not yet assumed the reins of office, and will not come to this town for about a month. In the meantime, as she is a telephone operator at High River, and the bridegroom is night operator at the C.P.R. in Camrose, both the provincial government and the C.P.R. are benefitting by the increased business between those points.

I met a young widow with a grown up stepdaughter and I married the widow. Then my father met our stepdaughter and married her. That made my wife the mother-in-law of her father-in-law, and made my stepdaughter my stepmother and my father became my stepson.

Then my stepmother, the stepdaughter of my wife, had a son; that boy was of course my brother because he was my father's son, but he was also the son of my wife's stepdaughter, and therefore her grandson, which made me grandfather to my brother.

Then my wife had a son. My mother-in-law, the stepsister of my son, is also his grandmother, because he is her stepson's child. My father is the brother-in-law of my child, because his stepsister is his wife. I am the brother of my own son, who is also the child of my grandmother; I am my mother's brother-in-law; my wife is her own child's aunt; my son is my father's nephew, and I am my own grandfather.—Trumbull Cheer.

This town, and for that matter every town, village and hamlet, blessed with a name should have suitable signs, bearing its name and greeting placed in prominent place so that passing strangers can easily see and read it.

PROVINCIAL NEWS

C. P. R. officials report splendid crop yields on their irrigated land in Alberta.

A Winnipeg teacher was dismissed because of a certain speech, which the members of the school board described as atheistic.

Rudolph Lemieux, a prominent Liberal in Quebec, preferred the Shaughnessy railway plan to government ownership.

The U.G.G. report that the Alberta wheat crop will be heavier than anticipated. It will be a 40 per cent. crop at the lowest.

A big fire occurred in Kincardine, Ont., on August 8 and caused $50,000 damage to an entire block of residences and stores.

King George V suggested that he cut the expenditure of running a throne, but the British government would not have it.

The hail insurance companies were hard hit last week when a disastrous hail storm swept over a portion of north Alberta on August 8.

The U.F.A. organization anticipate an early federal election and they are not asleep by any means. They are getting ready for the inevitable.

The body of the late Prof. Stone, who lost his life while attempting to ascend Mount Fon, near Banff, has been found after many days of search.

Many harvesters are on the way to Alberta to help in the harvest fields despite the fact that they were warned not to come in such large numbers.

A general reduction of one cent in the price of refined oil came into effect throughout Canada last Saturday. Alberta went one better, the reduction being two cents in this province.

A landslide with a half-mile frontage, came down without warning at Basque, B.C., on the west side of the Thompson river on Saturday, completely blocking the river at one point.

TOO GOOD TO BE GOOD FOR MUCH OF ANYTHING

I once knew an elderly philosopher who used to remark that there was such a thing as a man being so very good in some particular line of activity that he wasn't good for much of anything.

He pointed out the champion pool player of the district as an example, picked out the horseshoe pitching champion of the district for another, and clinched his case by citing old John Jenkins, who could catch mountain trout in a water bucket or any other body of water, no matter how unpromising it might look to other fishermen, but who never applied himself very diligently to anything else but going fishing.

"These chaps are mighty good in their line," my friend commented. "The trouble is it spoils them for hard work or anything else worth while."

I remembered this old philosopher when I read the accounts of Jack Dempsey's recent exploit at Jersey City, when he successfully flattened out Georges Carpentier of France. Jack is undoubtedly a great pugilist, possibly one of the best of the world has ever seen, but if Jack should drop out of sight tomorrow the world would be little worse off. He's a great man, fistically speaking, but it doesn't mean anything.

Georges, too, I am afraid, will never do much for humanity as long as he confines himself to prize fighting. Now, if Jack wasn't quite so shiftless he probably would be a wonder as a freight handler—he'd have to do something worth while to make a living.

They do say that a fine coal miner was spoiled when Georges found he could box a little better than the other boys. I do not take much stock in the tremendous amount of hot air being thrown about as to the wonderfully beneficial effect the prowess of the Dempseys and the Carpentiers have upon the morale of young manhood, and although I have been waiting for the resignation of the French cabinet as a result of Carpentier's defeat, things seem to be moving much as usual on the banks of the Seine.

Mr. Briand, who declared that the success of the French loan was dependent upon Carpentier's victory, seems to have been a little bit excited, for the quotations on French bonds haven't changed in the least. The only useful feature of the fight at Jersey City was the fact that it netted about half a million dollars for the U. S. treasury in war taxes and incidentally speeded up passenger traffic on the United States railroads considerably. These taxes and railroad fares were paid by people whom the United States tax collector ordinarily doesn't reach, and who could well afford to pay for the doubtful pleasure of seeing one husky individual hammer another slightly less husky one into unconsciousness. For myself, I would not trade one honest, industrious laboring man for all the pugilists in the world.—Exchange.

PREMIER DRURY TAKES A HOLIDAY

Does Not Go to a Summer Resort But Like a Man Works in the Harvest Field

There are many empty chairs behind executive desks for short periods during the "dog days." Few have earned the right to set aside the cares of office for a few days more than Ontario's premier, whose hours have been long, duties many and responsibilities heavy since he was rather peremptorily placed at the head of the provincial government. But when Mr. Drury left his office for a couple of days last week he did not go to the lakes or the seaside but to his farm at Crown Hill — and the golf they play there is with a pitch-folk.

Has Premier Drury forgotten how to play hayfield golf? Hardly! On Thursday last he entered a timothy and clover handicap, and after spending most of the morning on some rain-soaked hay bunks, he got down to form and pitched up eighteen loads before he called it a game. Next morning he finished the hay handicap by forking up another eight loads. And that was not the end of the harvest tournament. It was only noon, and half a day by agricultural time—union rules do not apply. A wheat match started sharp after lunch and the premier finished strong with a total of twelve loads.

When a man can pitch thirty-eight loads of hay and grain in two days (or rather a day and a half, farm time) after many weeks of indulgence in the strenuousities of public life, his opponents in the political, or any other ring, had better prepare for a long, hard contest. And if there comes defeat—and at the mention of the word the premier smiled healthily and sun-burnedly on a brother agriculturist and politician (not the forgotten writer)—"why, we farmers always have a job, even if we do lose a couple of thousand dollars on a season's efforts, as I am doing on my farm this year."

THE USE OF TIME

Time Killers Do Not Look Upon Time As a Limited Income

When you hear a man complain that he has some time to kill, but doesn't know how to kill it, you may rightly pity him as being profoundly ignorant. He is ignorant, not because he doesn't know how to kill time, but because he finds it possible to regard time as something that ever ought to be killed.

Decidedly he has no such appreciation of the preciousness of time as, for example, was recently shown in a letter written by a Baltimore man: "With a weekly income of 168 hours, how ought one to live on that income for the right and most effective use?"

Time killers clearly do not look upon time as a limited income, of which every man should make the most. If they did they would not be time killers. Though, to be sure, they might pass to the opposite and almost equally deplorable extreme of time misers.

Time misers grudge every moment spent doing anything disconnected from their chief life interest. If that interest is a money-making occupation—as it usually is—they are uneasy when not busied at it.

They cut their meals short, they cut their hours of sleep, they even mulish over their work during periods devoted by wise folk to recreation. By thus behaving they are not really saving time, as they perhaps imagine. On the contrary, they are actually as wasteful of time as the most reckless time killers.

For time was never meant to be used chiefly for the making of money. It is given to us for many purposes—notably the proper care of our bodies, the cultivating of our minds, nourishing of our souls.

If we do not use it in due proportion for these purposes we are mis-using it. Any misuse of time always entails some penalties, varying with the life purposes most conspicuously neglected by time misers. Yet how to live on 168 hours a week is not such a difficult problem as may be thought. It is solved readily enough by all who recognize that man is a trinity of body, mind and soul, and that it is essentially a question of distributing time to give body, mind and soul each its proper share.

More than one and a quarter million barrels of apples were exported from Canada last season, the greater bulk of these going to the United Kingdom, it is pointed out in a statement issued by the Department of Agriculture.

The earnest and sincere man need look neither for friends nor for opportunity; they are searching for him.

PERIL OF THE LINKS

Insurance Companies Are Offering to Write Golf Insurance

So the insurance companies are offering to write golf insurance—have been able to assess in dollars the risk a golfer assumes when he goes on the links.

But this, perhaps, is less grotesque than scoffers will assume. Golf has its hazards, as every duffer knows. Bunkers, traps, ponds, brooks, ditches, swamps and bramble bushes—that's what up-to-date links are made of, it seems to the twenty-four handicap man. There are other hazards. Anyone who has intercepted a drive with his skull can testify that a golf ball is a dangerous missile. And the back swing of a brassie resembles in impact the kick of a Missouri mule. A round on one of the congested public links is often a bit of trench adventure.

When thousands of persons are chasing one another from tee to tee with irons and baby cannon balls somebody is likely to be hurt. But certainly life is becoming complicated when even the sport that the physicians commend for its health giving qualities gets tangled up in the actuaries' mortality tables.

"Broken Blossoms"

In accord with the golden rule, if a pretty girl smacks you on the cheek you should put up your lips.

About the time a man's first baby gets old enough to say things other men begin to shun him.

Douglas Edgar, the widely-known golf player and twice holder of the Canadian open golf championship, was killed in front of his home at Atlanta when a fool and his auto ran him down. The driver failed to stop and the police are now after him. If found he should be charged with willful murder and prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Two interesting developments in deep sea transportation took place here recently with the shipment of chilled meat from Vancouver to Europe and the inauguration of a monthly passenger service between the Pacific and the continent via the Panama Canal.

It is suggested that monied interests in the west form a pool and help the cattlemen of the country to hold their feeders and not rush too many on the market at a time. The cattle situation is no doubt serious but through co-operation the situation may improve.

CONTRACT FOR TELEPHONE POLES

Wilson Lumber Co. Hope to Secure Contract for Telephone Poles From the Government

That the unemployment problem in the province will be a serious question for the coming year is beyond doubt, and in this connection it is of interest to citizens of High River that Mr. G. B. Wilson, president of the Wilson Lumber Company of High River, is actively negotiating with the Edmonton government in the matter of securing a contract for the cutting and delivery of two hundred thousand telephone poles for use in the province of Alberta.

At present the Wilson Lumber Co. furnishes employment for 45 or 50 men peeling, sorting, piling and otherwise getting into shape last winter's cut of 50,000 poles, driven down the Highwood during the present summer.

In conjunction with the Wilson telephone pole department of the lumber industry, the provincial government has under consideration the construction, in the mill yard of the company, of an extensive dipping plant, in which the poles will undergo chemical treatment.

As a rule the Wilson Company, with one camp operating during the winter, employ from sixty to seventy men. During the coming winter the president of the company contemplates the maintenance of larger camps, and the employment of a large number of men, provided, of course, a substantial contract carrying liberal terms is awarded.

During the coming winter a serious situation will unquestionably arise in connection with an adequate supply of reasonably priced domestic fuel in High River, and also in the several towns and districts in Central Alberta.

Here, again, the Wilson Company is making an endeavor to arrange for a supply of stove-wood for the householders of High River and district at very reasonable prices. It is the sincere hope of all that the government will give the contract to the High River firm and thus give employment to men who will be seeking work during the coming winter.

Butter from the Edmonton district is in demand, and one of the largest orders ever recorded here was placed recently, when Paul de Wolf, of Sar-dis, B. C., asked local dealers to supply him with 1,000,000 pounds destined for the New York market. A million pound order is a large one to fill, but agents at half a dozen or more Central Alberta points were asked to assist in filling the order.

RED CROSS ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer visited their son, Mr. William Palmer last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Doane took in the Fair at High River on Friday.

A party of pupils of the Red Cross School, met at the school-house on Friday afternoon and presented Miss Hartley with a beautiful sewing basket containing a silver thimble and scissors.

A committee of the Women's Institute met at Mrs. Snows on Friday afternoon, to complete arrangements for the Lawn party to be held at Mrs. Rushfeldt's, Wednesday, August 17, of which, 'more anon'. A demonstration on the fine art of "Patching" was given by one of the ladies present. The only difficulty is, nobody will be able to tell whether the man is coming or going when he dons those trousers.

Mr. John Rushfeldt returned last week from Cochrane, where he has been putting up hay.

The Schools are getting in shape for opening. Red Cross school-house has been repaired and thoroughly cleaned by a few public-spirited women. Mayview school is being slightly altered and given a fresh coat of paint. Highland, is to have some alterations made also, and fresh paint inside.

The farmers are busy trying to harvest their crop. Mighty poor satisfaction in most cases. Mr. Asa Bancroft has about the best piece of wheat we have noticed. He figures on 20 bushel per acre.

Mr. Scotty Love spent last Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Love. Scotty is an engine expert at the Government Farm at Cluny.

Mrs. Devitt and children, left for Gleichen last Thursday. They will spend a few days with Mr. Devitt and then go to their home at Redcliff.

Speaking of mishaps in the Red Cross districts, the latest occurred on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Snow, which rather shocked the other members of the R.L.V. Institute. Our new President, presented herself in a much detached garb, (but a mistake was made—she got the wrong pair).

Don't forget the big baseball game and dance to be held in our district on the evening of August 24. Turn out and give the boys your earnest support.

The best thing is to let the cabinet ministers who will have to stand at election to get in by acclamation and get busy on their new duties. And when the time comes for amendments to the election act, a change might be made, making the practice of returning for re-election unnecessary.

MARQUIS SCHOOL FAIR

A meeting of the School Fair committee, of the Rural Municipality of Marquis, is called for Saturday evening, August 20, at Lake McGregor School house, 8 o'clock. The final arrangements will be made for what is hoped will prove to be the best fair ever held in the district. Over $500 has been donated, nearly one-half by private individuals which shows the interest taken by everyone. Local organizations also have contributed, such as the different U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. locals; W.L. and Farmers' Co-operative. Interest along some lines is always more keen than in others, but in Queenstown and Milo the interest centers around the finest calf which can be produced. We hope to see some fine specimen in spite of the embargo on cattle.
